EDITORIAL

TODAY as we celebrate the gift of ordination for this year's priests and deacons we cannot but recall St. John Paul II, Pastoral Exhortation, Pastores Dabo Vobis, (I will give you shepherds after my heart), March 15, 1992. In this exhortation, St. John Paul II emphasizes "the need for the Church to propose to each new generation the vocational call and help people to discern the authenticity of their call from God". God is giving us shepherds, young men born, formed and adapted to serve the church of this generation.

It is an abundant harvest of twenty four candidates, eleven priests and thirteen deacons. Of the eleven priests, nine will be ordained today at Nyamitanga Cathedral while two will be ordained at St. Joseph the worker, Buhimba Parish, in Bushenyi District on Saturday 2, 2023. While we congratulate them for reaching this sacred moment and acknowledge those who in various ways helped them to answer God's call, we do not forget the incessant prayers from the local Christian community and universal church.

We congratulate you parents and families who have shouldered the prime support to the candidates. We know you fully share the joy of candidates today because with them you have been through anxiety and fears of preparations. Congratulations!

As you go through this souvenir magazine we hope you will come to know more about the individual candidates as regards their family, educational and formational backgrounds. We believe you will continue to pray for them and commit yourself to openly collaborate with shepherds in your community or parish, because it is through openness and collaboration with priests and other pastoral agents that we together build the kingdom of God.

On behalf of the editorial team we wish everyone a fruitful event, hoping that you will be helped to participate more actively in the liturgy in which our candidates will obtain their sacerdotal character.

Rev. Fr. Charles Mutabaruka
Chief Editor

The Rector, Staff, Parents, Obs and Students of Kitabi Seminary thank the Lord for the gift of Vocation and Priesthood. We use the same voice and happiness to Congratulate the Deacons to be ordained priests today 27th August 2023. We pray for unending zeal to serve God among his people that will be entrusted to your care and service. May the love of Christ impel you every moment of your life to serve Him better.

Congratulations.

ST. KIZITO PREPARATORY SEMINARY CONGRATULATES DEACONS AND PRIESTS ORDAINED TODAY

The Seminary community heartily cheers the newly ordained servants of God and wishes them the best in the ministry of the Church.

St. Kizito Preparatory Seminary, is one of the only three preparatory seminaries in Uganda, specifically the youngest. It belongs to the Trustees of the Archdiocese of Mbarara, established in 2013 at Rwebishuri Centre in Uganda Martyrs Parish. It admits Catholic young men from good catholic families to join P.5 and be trained to become future priests. The vision of the seminary is to produce God-fearing and responsible Christians of the Archdiocese of Mbarara with emphasis on Spiritual, Moral, Intellectual and Human formation and excellence.

ST. MUKASA SEMINARY COMMUNITY

Congratulates the Newly Ordained Priests & Deacons.

With hearts brimming with joy, we congratulate our newly ordained priests and deacons. Today, we witness the fulfillment of God's plan as you embark on your sacred journey.

Remember Jeremiah 29:11: "For I know the plans I have for you..." which assures us that your steps are guided by divine purpose, destined for a future of hope and service. As our motto teaches, "Discipline Leads to Success." Let this guide you in your ministry. May your path be illuminated by faith, your actions be guided by love, and your service be a beacon of God's grace.

Fr. Denis Bomukama
Rector.

WHY TEARS ON ORDINATION?

Ever wondered why some people do cry at ordination to priesthood? What kind of feeling is aroused in you when people are being ordained? Why do some people cry when they see their sons, relatives, their beloved being ordained? Some are tears of joy, while others think the candidates to priesthood shall be seen no more.

People imagine how a human being can partake of such a precious gift. Such a feeling becomes strong especially among the parents who on seeing their own sons also share on this gift.

Other people say that when they see the candidates lie down on the mat, they often think they have died. And remembering of the aspect of celibacy they think they have surrendered their whole children and families which they consider as a loss and they say it makes them emotional.

In the past when the dioceses were very large and when priesthood meant going to other countries for evangelization, parents and relatives sympathized with their children about how they would find their places of appointment. They would imagine spending a lot of time without contact with them which could make them shed tears. It seemed to them as a deception, not until the day of ordination and thus tears could roll in their eyes.

Some priests explain that on imagining themselves being loved by Christ in such a way that He chooses them to serve in His person, tears roll in their eyes. We may not skip the fact that for those who are always envious of others' ordination to priesthood, the tears would be either of remorse or defeat as they are disappointed and humiliated. It hurts them when they see they have labored in vain.

If we could imagine how we are blessed to have priests, we would rejoice. Even the more. But we differ in the way we express our joy as to some they cry while to others they laugh. It is really hard to tell whether the tears are of joy or of sorrow because we cannot know what people think. Only God knows what is hidden in hearts. Let us experience ordination as a blessing. If we are to shed tears let in our hearts be praise to God who gives us such a favor to share in his priesthood. And as the psalmist exhorts us "let us rejoice in" this wonderful day of ordination to priesthood "and be glad in it." Cf psalms 118: 24.
